Population: Full-blood Aborigines

Following the repeal in August 1967 of Section 127 of the Commonwealth Constitution, official figures of population are required to include full-blood Aborigines.

Reporting at the 1966 Census was insufficiently precise to enable a reliable dissection of full-blood and half-blood Aborigines. To provide a comparison in tables showing also later population figures, those for the 1966 Census include full-blood Aborigines, but the difference between inclusive and exclusive figures should not be interpreted as a reliable measure of the Aboriginal population. Census information regarding Aborigines is to be found in a special census publication "The Aboriginal Population (Revised Statement)" issued by the Commonwealth Statistician on 27 November 1967.

Particular attention should be paid to footnotes on the inclusion or exclusion of full-blood Aborigines in the tables which follow.

No. 4—Population: Urban Centres, 1961 and 1966

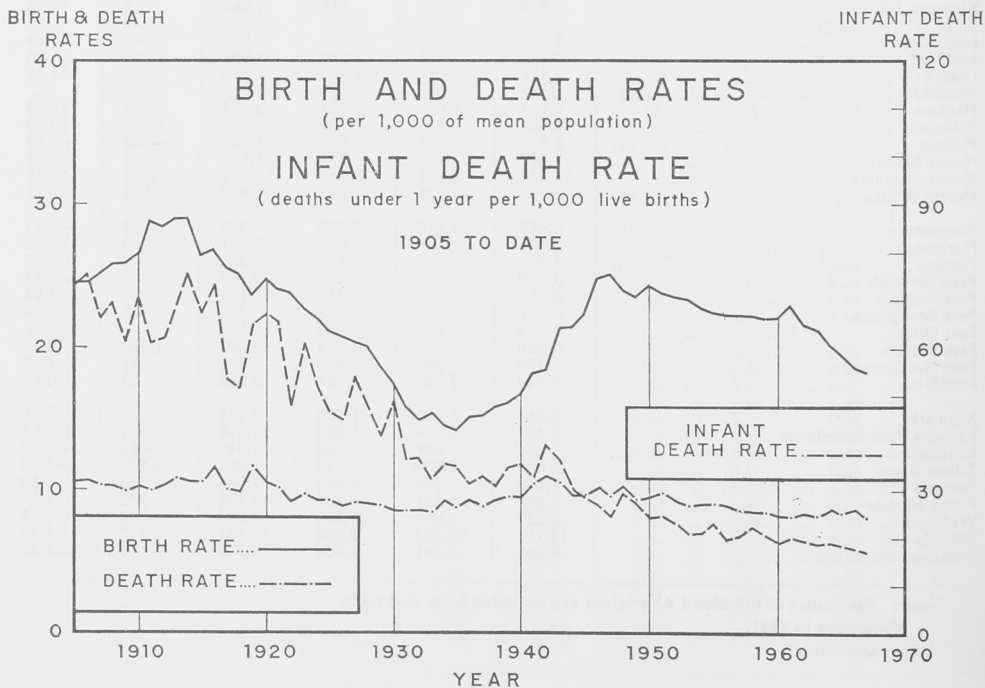

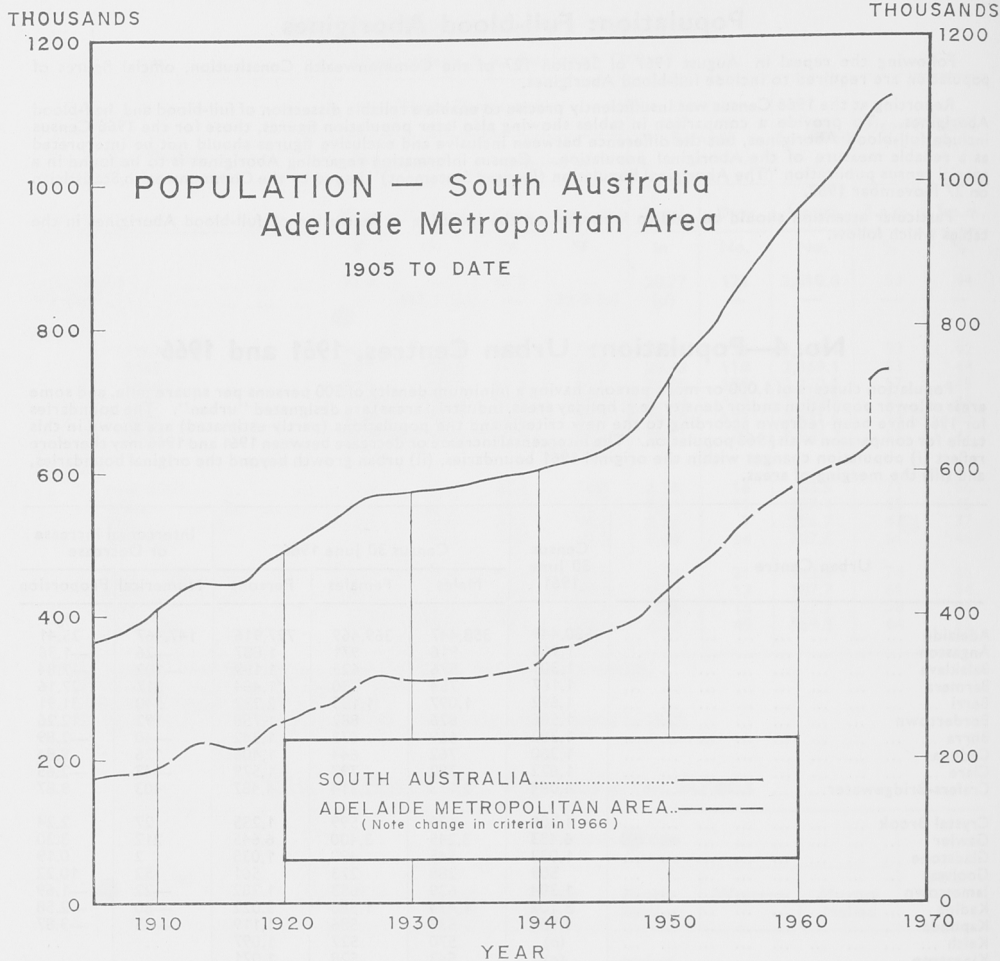

Population clusters of 1,000 or more persons having a minimum density of 500 persons per square mile, and some areas of lower population and/or density (e.g. holiday areas, industrial areas) are designated "urban". The boundaries for 1961 have been redrawn according to the new criteria and the populations (partly estimated) are shown in this table for comparison with 1966 population. The intercensal increase or decrease between 1961 and 1966 may therefore reflect (i) population changes within the original 1961 boundaries, (ii) urban growth beyond the original boundaries, and (iii) the merging of areas.

Note: Figures are exclusive of full-blood Aborigines.

(a) Prior to 30 June 1966 the Metropolitan Area of Adelaide comprised 21 municipalities. From 30 June 1966 new criteria based mainly on population density have been adopted for all capital cities; the boundary for Adelaide has been extended to embrace new areas, including Elizabeth, Salisbury and Tea Tree Gully.

(b) Some changes have been made in the definition of "other urban" at previous censuses. From 30 June 1966 it includes each population cluster of 1,000 or more persons which conforms to a minimum density standard, and certain "holiday areas" which may qualify as urban on a dwellings density basis.

(a) Births and deaths of full-blood Aborigines, where identified in registrations, have been excluded from natural increase calculations prior to 1 January 1967. From this date onwards, all vital events registered are used in the reckoning of natural increase.

(b) Total increase figures subsequent to June 1966 include full-blood Aborigines. Earlier figures exclude full-blood Aborigines.

(c) Excess of births over deaths per 1,000 of mean population. The population used in the calculation of rates is exclusive or inclusive of full-blood Aborigines as appropriate.

(d) Rates for quarterly periods are calculated as equivalent annual rates.

(e) Rate of growth during the period expressed as a proportion (per cent) of the population at the beginning of the period.

No. 61—Articles Produced in Factories

The following table gives details of production of a number of articles in South Australian factories.

Because of the necessity of concealing details for individual producers (the Census and Statistics Act requires all such information to be treated as strictly confidential) details concerning a number of major items—e.g. motor vehicles—have been withheld from publication.

Note: Building employment covers all contractors and sub-contractors and employees of contractors, sub-contractors, and government instrumentalities, who on the last working day in the month were actually engaged on the construction, alteration, repair, and maintenance of buildings, but excludes persons working on owner-built houses or for contractors or sub-contractors who undertake only alterations, additions, repairs, and maintenance. Persons "actually engaged" include those temporarily laid off because of weather. Some duplication may occur as a result of frequent movement between jobs or because some persons (such as electricians) may work on several jobs which are under construction simultaneously.

Note: As from 1 October 1967, statistics of injuries include only those injuries necessitating medical or surgical treatment. Prior to this date, all injuries reported were shown in the statistics as injuries. As a consequence, details of injuries, accidents involving casualties and total accidents since 1 October 1967 will be relatively lower than for previous periods.

(a) As recorded by Police Department.

(b) "Motor Vehicles on Register" is the mean number for each period, including Commonwealth owned vehicles except defence services vehicles, but excluding tractors and trailers.

(c) Quarterly rates are expressed as equivalent annual rates.

(d) Recorded accidents are those involving casualty or property damage exceeding $50.

Trade

All statistics shown in Tables 80 to 88 relate to articles shipped direct between ports in South Australia and overseas countries. Overseas exports and imports via other States are NOT included.

Value of outside packages (containers etc.) is included with individual commodities for exports and with the "All other" group for imports.

Details of interstate movements of goods (particularly by road) are extremely difficult to obtain but a few major items which are available are shown in Table 79 below.
